Professional, Educational and Community, Volunteer Experience

I am not originally from San Antonio, TX, but have called San Antonio home for 20 years. After attending Texas A&M University, where I obtained a Bachelor's degree in History. I took a short break from academics, then decided it was time for graduate school. San Antonio has excellent options for graduate studies and I found there was no need to look any further than St. Mary's University. I earned a Master of Arts in Political Science, as well as a Master of Arts in International Relations (focus area of Human Rights & Development) and graduated in 2009. In 2020, I was invited to join the Dean's Advisory Council for the College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences. This role is an opportunity to remain engaged in an academic environment, collaborate with alumni, and provide feedback on business or community trends that may affect enrollment or course/program offerings. The chance to continue to serve has been extraordinary, and I was absolutely delighted and honored to have been selected as the Commencement speaker for the Fall graduation ceremony in 2022.

With respect to professional experience, I have a small consulting firm (JDG Associates, Inc.) that provides civil rights, EEO, and inclusion support services to Federal government agencies. I began my career with JDG Associates, Inc. as a writer/editor focused on procurement, then worked with a mentor to better understand EEO laws, theories, frameworks, and their applicability to the Federal EEO process. I value the time and energy that my mentor provided, and which allowed me to grow in my career. I obtained a certification as an EEO Investigator, and after developing my own skillset, served as a mentor to help other EEO Investigators further their understanding of EEO and develop their writing and analytical skills. When the owners of the company made the decision to retire, I worked with them to purchase the firm. I have owned and operated JDG Associates, Inc. since 2015. In that time, I have made some changes to our business model, focusing more on service and advocacy, and scaling back in the scope of some service areas in order to place a greater emphasis on more individualized Federal client support. I look forward to continued business growth and development.

I find the general decline in individuals volunteering for community and other non-profit groups a concern. Although it took me a little time to find my footing, once I became a part of Monticello Park, it was hard to resist the requests to become more involved. I began with a small committee role with the Monticello Park Holiday Home Tour, which is a fundraiser that supports restoration grants to homeowners making improvements to their historic homes, and to the scholarship program. I joined the MPNA board in 2015 as a board member; then four years as Secretary. I have served as President of the MPNA board since 2021. I have also chaired MPNA's scholarship program for the last six years; it is exciting to engage with graduating seniors and learn about their academic goals. It is even more exciting to know we are providing financial support that will help them meet those goals. I also am a member of the Tuesday Musical Club (TMC), which is the oldest musical club for women in Texas. I currently serve as Parliamentarian, and am leading a small team focused on updating the bylaws of our organization. It is a long process, and given the longevity of the club, must take into consideration our history and precedent. I also serve on the Junior Tuesday Musical Club (JTMC) committee; the JTMC, established in 1924, provides students from the first grade to twelfth, encourages the study of classical music and offers students an opportunity to perform on a professional stage. I maintain the student directory, registration database, competition database, and step in where needed. It is a joy watching students build friendships and support and mentor each other. Other community support activities include serving as foster for dogs through a local pet rescue organization; serving on the board (Secretary) of the Mayfair Condominiums (located in District 1); and most recently, as the District 7 alternate to the Transportation Oriented Development (TOD) Taskforce.

Why I Would Like to Serve

I am interested in serving on this committee because I recognize the integral part that the UDC has on so many aspects of life and community in San Antonio. The frameworks and codified language that this committee is tasked with reviewing and analyzing will affect future growth and development, preserve our historic neighborhoods, and support climate initiatives. There also remains the possibility that language being considered for implementation may have unintended consequences, and it is a difficult, but valuable conversation when such topics arise. The work this committee does is will help ensure a fair approach in implementation of new amendments for all those living in San Antonio, and I look forward to an opportunity to assist in this initiative and participate in any outreach or educational efforts.

Commitment to Racial, Economic, and Social Justice

I focused my graduate studies on Political Science (Civic Engagement focus) and International Relations (Human Rights and Development focus). Those courses of study and the importance of holistically addressing issues of equity from the racial, gender, religious, and economic perspectives have served as a guide on a personal and professional level. My professional career is focused on equal opportunity support services for the Federal government, and while I must remain a third-party neutral when providing specific services, I remain responsible for identifying areas of concern that may adversely and/or disparately impact the employees of the clients that we, as a company, serve. It is important that we, as a community and society, remain cognizant of the fact that our actions and/or policies, even those that are well intended, can have a negative impact on certain communities. I want to promote equity and fairness, not contribute to exacerbating existing or creating conditions that fail to support justice and sustainability.

Please provide a description of your professional, educational and community/volunteer experience.

Please see my attached resume.

Please explain why you would like to serve on this committee

I would like to continue to serve on PCTAC to provide my urban core neighborhood experience to PCTAC when recommendations are made on the City's Unified Development Code and Major Throughfare Plan to the Planning Commission.

Over the past 20 years I have volunteered my time in various capacities to serve my community and neighborhood. As listed on my resume, I have advocated for the needs of my community by engaging with the City of San Antonio in multiple capacities to bring resources not just to my community, but to help others in their respective neighborhoods all over the City. My experience with the UDC is based on my community involvement and living in a 1935 home located in a historic district, within the original 36 square miles of the City, in a mandatory detention area, in the 100 year flood plain, four blocks from the City's first bus rapid transit line, and adjacent to an infill development which brought 30% to 60% AMI multifamily housing.

I have also had the opportunity to represent my community with respect to policy decisions being made by many City Departments and Taskforces. The neighborhoods in the urban core are unique and dynamic as they see the most changes to their built environment in the form of rezoning applications, complete streets, infill developments, and non-conforming situations.

I believe my unique professional work experience brings a perspective and is a valuable addition to the PCTAC. Also, my history and knowledge of UDC changes, representing neighborhoods in multiple capacities with the City, listening, collaboration across many entities, and a technical understanding to ensure UDC amendments are reviewed with proper consideration are qualifications which I feel may benefit the PCTAC. I participated in the development of the SA Tomorrow Comprehensive Plan by serving on a Plan Element Work Group but also submitted amendments crucial for infill development which were incorporated and adopted. I have read the SA Comprehensive/Sustainability/Multimodal, and SHIP Strategic Housing Implementation Plans and understand their goals and objectives. I had the unique opportunity to work on the development and adoption of the SA Climate Plan by ensuring community input was received from all stakeholders and even reengaging stakeholders to ensure everyone had an opportunity to provide input in the various stages. Collaboration is key to any process, and I believe I bring a significant history of collaboration to a process centered on change. The needs across the City of San Antonio vary and it is important to recognize and respect each and every diverse area of the City. I also believe I am a conduit to a larger community base through my Tier One Neighborhood Coalition engagement. Most importantly, I am not afraid to do the work, read all the technical information, and learn more to better understand why changes to the UDC are being proposed or changes to the City's Major throughfare plan are being proposed.

Lastly, it is important that as decisions are made, a community member should have accessibility to their City government and for their input to be received, understood, and respected. Neighborhoods are just one component of a community, there are non-profits who work to provide services and programs. I am involved with the Jefferson Woodlawn Lake CDC which provides grants to the community and the Rotary Club of San Antonio who execute many service programs across the City to the most vulnerable in our community.

Please share your interest and commitment to racial and economic justice and other social equity issues.

I believe it is imperative for everyone to be treated equally regardless of race and to ensure there are equitable opportunities and outcomes for all. We must be deliberate and ensure there are preventative measures to ensure proactive and achievement to sustain racial equity, it is more than words on paper and statements, we must act. We must acknowledge that racial and economic injustice while wrong, also had benefactors. We all have a role to play in dismantling the racial injustices of the past and I am committed to ensuring we proceed in the actions at PCTAC in an equitable path for all residents of San Antonio.

I am a licensed Commercial Real Estate Associate brokered under Michael Hoover at DH Realty Partners, Inc.

RE: Application for Planning Commission Technical Advisory Committee (PCTAC)
City of San Antonio

Dear Ms. Kormann:

Greetings. I received the notice regarding the re-application window for membership on the City of San Antonio's PCTAC, and I am submitting my application along with this coverletter. Forgive me if I delve into COSA climate and land use policy for a couple of paragraphs, but I think it helps to set the background as I explain why I have a strong interest in serving again on the PCTAC, and how my previous experience can facilitate my ability to be a proactive and engaged member in the new term.

The San Antonio City Council has pledged to support the Paris Climate Accord [fn 1], and it has passed a Climate Action & Adaptation Plan (CAAP) [fn 2]. This plan recognizes that many of the most serious direct effects of climate change locally will materialize as public health challenges [fn 3]. These include, but are not limited to, increases in the number of heat waves/triple digit days, increases in average summer night-time temperatures, aggravated urban heat inequities due to infrastructure and tree canopy disparities across the city, increases in flash flood severity, and air quality problems (CAAP). These leadership actions demonstrate that the municipal government has been fairly pro-active regarding initial climate change planning. Land use policies, stormwater management, transportation planning, and equitable greenspace access, among other municipal initiatives, are all implicated in the successful implementation of the CAAP.

San Antonio unfortunately is starting its resilience and adaptation preparations from a position that includes many pre-existing social and economic difficulties. The city -- the seventh largest in the U.S. -- is dealing with rapid growth (2010 and 2020 U.S. Census reports), which is exacerbating already high levels of income inequality. This, in turn, is compounded by the reality that roughly 19% of the population lives below the poverty rate (American Community Survey, U.S. Census Bureau, 2018). The impacts of COVID-19 locally appear to have only amplified these problems, which likely exemplifies the greater complexities ahead. To this point, the municipal government chose to endorse the following acknowledgement: "San Antonio's history has produced social inequities that, if unaddressed, will worsen with climate change" (CAAP, p. 9).

[fn 1] San Antonio joined other U.S. cities as part of the Mayors National Climate Action Agenda. Baugh, Josh. "Council approves resolution on Paris climate accord." San Antonio Express-News, 22 June 2017.

[fn 2] Passed as Ordinance 2019-10-17-0840. Located at:
<https://www.sanantonio.gov/Portals/0/Files/Sustainability/SAClimateReady/SACRRReportOctober2019.pdf>

[fn 3] The City has decided to implement an approach that "organizes strategies in seven broad categories: increase infrastructure resilience; strengthen public health systems; enhance emergency management and community preparedness; promote, restore, and protect green infrastructure and ecosystems; protect local food security; increase resiliency awareness and outreach; and ensure equity in adaptation" (CAAP, p. 9).

As for me: As a lawyer, social science researcher, and trained conservationist, I am working to apply my experience and academic research toward assisting with local resilience and adaptation efforts. My legal background includes land use planning, environmental law, Native American law, resource conservation, nonprofit law, and public-private sector cooperation. My recent graduate studies at the University of Arizona (UA) provide a solid foundation for applying current scientific research in useful and usable ways that inform the revision of the Unified Development Code. I took advantage of “low walls” between UA departments to enroll in a variety of classes across several fields, with notable emphasis on environmental policy, property rights, public engagement, conflict and collaboration, Native American rights, watershed management, and climate change adaptation. A course on the Third National Climate Assessment (NCA3), co-taught by Kathy Jacobs (Director of the NCA3 at the White House’s Office of Science and Technology Policy) as well as other authors of the NCA3, led to a climate change publication in a peer-reviewed journal. I have gained a detailed understanding of the drivers of global change, and I have learned how to apply cutting edge scientific scholarship in order to identify regional extreme weather event risks and other natural hazard threats. Further, I have recently strengthened my skillsets and worked to inter-connect them by studying environmental ethics at the Episcopal Seminary of the Southwest. My experience in science communications drove home for me the need to be able to engage with diverse audiences in ways that resonate with their cultural values and belief systems, and so I continue to read and study to improve my abilities in translating resiliency and climate adaptation research in meaningful ways to stakeholders.

At the University of Arizona, I should mention that I was committed to ensuring that my academic coursework would include studies on community decision-making and public participation. This classroom learning was reinforced by my wide-ranging work out in the field with a variety of stakeholder groups on many different aspects of the thorny issue of water management across the drought-stricken State of Arizona. My colleagues and I frequently planned and moderated workshops, scenario planning exercises, and other stakeholder engagement meetings, and we sought to reach out particularly to historically marginalized communities. Our efforts were marked by special efforts to introduce useful and usable climate change science into discussions where participants were often initially deeply skeptical of the subject.

My ongoing research strongly suggests that San Antonio will likely become a significant “receiving” city for climate refugees, whether from increasingly arid rural Texas, the coastal area (challenged by sea level rise, disrupted fisheries, and stronger hurricanes), expanding Western wildfire zones, resource-challenged areas of Latin America, or further afield. These new residents will arrive in periodic and unpredictable waves, and often in substantial numbers, which will create new strains and stresses on public institutions and infrastructure. Legal and regulatory regimes will face novel and unusual demands from population shifts and unpredictable state and federal funding and disaster response efforts. Water resources management will need to address unforeseen and volatile fluctuations regarding demand, consumptive uses, equitable access, and pricing schemes. Land use planning will involve retrofitting existing urban fabric with green infrastructure, while balancing rapid growth with habitat loss and changed floodplain conditions from extreme weather events.

With detailed investigations and thoughtful planning, the actual realization of resilience and adaptation strategies can help enormously in preparing for the uncertainties already emerging. Strategic and creative promulgation of rules and regulations can lead to investment in social capital and community networks in order to buffer against the oncoming disruptions. Public engagement initiatives associated with the UDC review can offer dynamic mechanisms for communications and resource deployment. I firmly consider these areas in particular to be worthy of careful consideration during a major revision of the UDC. Such an approach would be especially beneficial to informing and applying San Antonio’s own CAAP efforts. Further, it should be emphasized that the City is creating a template to be studied and copied by similarly situated urban areas elsewhere. San Antonio, I think, has developed a strong reputation as a national leader in the development and implementation of adaptation planning, and I think the PCTAC is a critical nexus where policy meets the nuts and bolts of operations and development.

Further, my experiences as a member of the San Antonio Drainage and Flood Control 2022 Bond Review Committee have allowed me to deepen my local knowledge of the challenges and opportunities facing the City. In addition to my own committee's sessions, I attended public hearings for all of the other committees in order to learn about the pressing needs -- and potential overlapping synergistic collaborations -- in the areas of Roads/Streets/Bridges, Parks/Recreation/OpenSpace, Facilities, and Housing. Hearing the public comments as well as the staff presentations provided a tremendous education on the current state of public works and infrastructure across the city. These sessions offered an unusual insight into public and private perspectives on the role of infrastructure in attracting investment, pursuing federal grants, sustaining neighborhood interconnectedness, fostering citizen engagement with municipal planning processes, and promoting quality of life across different parts of the City. I have continued since to attend a variety of public engagement meetings, from the newly formed Stormwater Management Advisory Board to the SA River Authority's Environmental Advisory Committee, as well as a variety of CPS and SAWS meetings (sometimes as a community member or a representative of my voluntary neighborhood association, sometimes in the capacity as a committee member). I have tried to keep an open channel of communication with the District 8 office and its staff as well, in my volunteer work with my neighborhood association, in order to stay updated on meetings and developing projects in our area of San Antonio as well as citywide.

In light of this broad-based combination of training and ongoing experiences, I believe I can continue to be of substantial assistance in the ongoing work of the PCTAC. I would look forward to the opportunity to collaborate with fellow citizens, both new and returning members, in efforts to support a dynamic and responsive regulatory framework that can enhance quality of life, protect vulnerable communities, and support investment-backed expectations in the City's future growth and development. To the extent it would be relevant in the committee's purview regarding the UDC, I would relish the opportunity to review evidence-based local resilience and adaptation planning research in the specific context of the climate change challenges directly impacting south central Texas.

In conclusion, it would be a privilege to serve again on the Planning Commission Technical Advisory Committee. Please do not hesitate to contact me if you would like additional information regarding my committee application. Thank you for your time.

Best regards,

Christopher Fullerton

Please provide a description of your professional, educational and community/volunteer experience.

Dominic Dominguez is a Ph.D. student at the University of Texas at San Antonio, studying Environmental Science & Engineering.

He holds a Masters in Sustainability & Development from Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

He holds a Bachelors of Science in Environmental Science & Policy with a Specialization in Biology from St. Edward's University

As a sustainability professional, Dominic specializes in urban planning, applied research, GIS analysis, 3D modeling, sustainable transportation & equity expansion

Please explain why you would like to serve on this committee.

It is because I hold a strong belief that through sustainable development, we can create a more inclusive San Antonio, where all people have the access to transportation, health, employment, education, housing, and more by effective planning.

I believe that the most sustainable practice we can create is integrating planning that values social equity, environmental stewardship, and economically viable considerations.

Please share your interest and commitment to racial and economic justice and other social equity issues.

Climate change and unsustainable development effects us all, but will first negatively impact marginalized communities and historically excluded locations in the Greater Bexar County Area. My hope is that our committee can provide meaningful research for the sustainable development of communities as to deter the historical implications of unaligned planning.

Alignment of SA Climate Ready, SA Tomorrow and the UN Sustainable Development goals in the next UDC cycle is a critical benefit for more inclusive and climate just action.

Please provide a description of your professional, educational and community/volunteer experience.

In addition to my professional experience, my educational background and community/volunteer involvement have equipped me to serve effectively on the PCTAC. I hold a bachelor's degree in public administration and a master's degree in urban & regional planning from UTSA. In addition to my academic degrees, I am a certified planner with the American Institute of Certified Planners. These credentials have provided me with a solid theoretical foundation and practical skills essential for effective urban planning.

In my role at MIG, I have collaborated with communities nationwide, focusing urban design, transportation planning, comprehensive planning, and community engagement. This experience has honed my ability to foster inclusive dialogue and incorporate diverse perspectives into planning processes, a skill that would be invaluable in my role on the PCTAC.

My community and volunteer involvement has also allowed me to actively contribute to initiatives aimed at improving the well-being of people from all backgrounds and abilities. This involvement includes my active role in professional organizations such as the American Planning Association (APA). Serving as the Vice-Chair for the Latinos and Planning Division and as secretary for the Texas Chapter, I have been actively involved in advocating for best planning practices and promoting diversity within the planning profession.

Collectively, my professional, educational, and volunteer experiences have equipped me with the knowledge, skills, and dedication needed to contribute meaningfully to the planning professional role of PCTAC.

Please explain why you would like to serve on this committee.

I am particularly drawn to serving on the PCTAC because of my profound passion for urban planning and my desire to contribute to shaping the city's growth in a way that enhances the quality of life for both current and future residents. Having called San Antonio home for the past decade, I have a vested interest in seeing it evolve into a city that caters to the needs of all its residents, irrespective of their backgrounds or abilities.

The PCTAC holds significant influence in San Antonio's development trajectory, as it is entrusted by the Planning Commission to offer expert guidance and recommendations on crucial matters. By serving on this committee, I see an opportunity to leverage my blend of professional expertise and personal insights. Drawing from my experiences working in equity-focused initiatives within the City and my involvement in creating innovative planning strategies at MIG, I am confident in my ability to contribute fresh perspectives and forward-thinking ideas to the table.

I am eager to collaborate with fellow committee members to craft sound recommendations that reflect the diverse needs of San Antonio's population and propel the city towards a more inclusive and sustainable future. Serving on the PCTAC would not only be a fulfilling opportunity for professional growth but also a meaningful way for me to give back to the community that has enriched my life over the years.

Please share your interest and commitment to racial and economic justice and other social equity issues.

My commitment to racial and economic justice and other social equity issues is deeply rooted in my personal experiences and professional journey. Having grown up in disadvantaged communities in Dallas and Houston, I've witnessed firsthand the profound impact that urban planning decisions can have on people's quality of life. This awareness has fueled my dedication to advancing equity in all aspects of my work.

During my tenure with the City, I was privileged to be among the first group of appointed employees to undergo equity training. This experience broadened my understanding of the systemic issues that perpetuate inequality, particularly in San Antonio. Currently, as a member of MIG's equity studio, I collaborate with colleagues to devise innovative approaches for integrating equity into our projects. Whether it's designing inclusive public spaces or crafting policies that prioritize marginalized communities, my goal is to ensure that all voices are heard and represented in the planning process. I hope to expand my equity work as a member of the PCTAC to create a just and equitable society for all people who live in San Antonio.

Many parts of our local urban environment "just grew" with little thought to safety, accessibility, convenience, or aesthetic appeal. By making careful changes, we can improve this stuff.

One of the most overlooked social equity issues of our time is "systematic ableism." While the City makes great efforts in ADA compliance, many ability barriers remain, not just to mobility, but for the visually and hearing impaired.

Explain why you would like to serve on this committee.

I have found serving on the PCTAC as the Planning Professional Alternate over the past 6 years to be very rewarding and humbly submit my application for a fourth term as the Planning Professional representative. I believe my qualifications and professional experience make me uniquely qualified to be a member of PCTAC. I have worked with the UDC for over 18 years in various capacities that have provided me with a thorough knowledge and understanding of the Code. I believe my 10 years of experience working as a city planner and current experience working as an affordable housing developer allow me to assess proposed amendments in a very measured and balanced way. I feel it is my duty, and it would be a great privilege, to continue to contribute to the UDC amendment review process and ensure that changes increase workability and administrative efficiency, eliminate unnecessary development costs, and reflect changes in law and the state of the art in land use planning and urban design. Additional details about my relevant experience and qualifications are included below.

I gained considerable experience in land use policy, urban design, strategic planning, long range planning, and community development during my 10 years of employment with the City of San Antonio working as a professional planner. I learned the UDC during my early years developing and providing recommendations for the Board of Adjustment, Zoning Commission, and Planning Commission. During the middle years of my employment with the City, I led neighborhood, community, and redevelopment planning initiatives, supervised a team of plan reviewers, and wrote large sections of the UDC that were reviewed by PCTAC and Planning Commission and ultimately adopted by City Council. In the last years of my employment with the City I managed complex community development initiatives with multi-million dollar budgets and large staff teams. All of these experiences have provided me with the knowledge and technical expertise that is necessary to understand the interrelatedness of the UDC provisions and the collective impact of amendments.

My most recent professional experience as President & CEO at Habitat for Humanity of San Antonio has provided me with an understanding of how the UDC is applied and the impact of UDC requirements on development. Affordable housing development is perhaps more dependent than any other type of development on a thorough understanding of the land development code because there is no margin to absorb additional costs incurred to address unanticipated Code requirements that pop up during construction. This work has demonstrated just how important it is for all stakeholders to have an opportunity to provide input on proposed code amendments and the importance of writing code in a precise way so that it can be applied equally and consistently.

In addition to my professional experience, I worked diligently for 12 years as a board member of the Southwest Texas Section of the American Planning Association to provide opportunities for local planners to learn about and discuss the latest and greatest in planning theory and practice.

It is with great enthusiasm and a strong commitment to public service that I submit my application for a fourth term on the PCTAC. I believe that my knowledge of the UDC and experience working as a city planner and as a nonprofit affordable housing developer, the ongoing work I have done to further the planning profession in San Antonio, and my exemplary service during my previous terms on PCTAC make me uniquely qualified to continue serving.

Share your interest and commitment to racial and economic justice and other social equity issues.

I am personally and professionally committed to racial and economic justice and social equity as evidenced by my 21 years of professional experience in public and nonprofit organizations. My first job out of college as a young 21 year old was working as a case manager for the Texas Health and Human Services Commission determining eligibility for public assistance programs. I took on this challenging and often thankless job because I believed it was vital that we ensure the less fortunate members of our community had access to food and basic medical care. The clients that I served were predominantly minority and exclusively low income. The majority sought assistance because a physical or mental disability, illness, or other life circumstance impacted their ability to gain and maintain a job that paid a living wage. The assistance we provided helped level the playing field a bit so they had some capacity to work to improve their situations.

I left my job at the State after 3 years to pursue a master's degree in Community and Regional Planning. I was drawn to the planning profession in large part because of the strong ethical principles and the commitment to plan for the needs of disadvantaged groups and persons and to provide all citizens with a meaningful role in the development of plans and programs. I lived by these principles during my 10 year career working in planning for the City of San Antonio. During my time with the City I helped give predominantly minority and disadvantaged populations the opportunity to participate in local governance through the development and implementation of neighborhood, community and revitalization plans and programs. During my later years with the City, my focus shifted to community development policy where my primary goal was to increase the effectiveness of the City's commercial revitalization and affordable housing programs that were targeted exclusively to low income neighborhoods.

I was given the opportunity to join the Habitat for Humanity of San Antonio leadership team in 2016. I jumped on this opportunity in large part because Habitat's commitment to providing homeownership opportunities for low and very low income families in San Antonio and Habitat's 'hand-up not handout' philosophy aligns with my beliefs about the importance of sweat equity and skills training.

Homeownership provides Habitat's clients with a stable and affordable living situation that makes it possible for them to improve their health, education, and employment outcomes. Habitat utilizes an affirmative marketing strategy to attract clients of all majority and minority groups regardless of sex, handicap and familial status. Additionally, all Habitat homes are built to Universal Design standards to provide barrier-free housing for persons of all abilities throughout their lives. The result is that the neighborhoods that we build are some of the most racially and ethnically diverse in the City with homeowners of all different abilities.

My deep commitment to racial and economic justice and social equity issues has been the most important factor guiding my education and career decisions. I have significant training and experience working with disadvantaged populations and this perspective has always and will always guide my work with PCTAC.
