BACKGROUND INFORMATION:

Since 2001, Metro Health has received funding from HRSA to operate the San Antonio Healthy Start (SAHS) program. SAHS is one of 101 Healthy Start sites throughout the nation, and one of five sites in Texas. SAHS began as a case management program focusing on increasing early prenatal care and has since expanded to serve 600 women and children through care coordination, health education, linkage to health insurance, fatherhood support services, mental health services, and lactation support services. SAHS seeks to reduce health disparities in infant and maternal mortality, improve poor birth outcomes in Bexar County, and reduce the incidence of maternal and infant morbidity, mortality, prematurity, and low birth weight births among African-American and Hispanic populations experiencing these disparities.

According to the Texas Department of State Health Services (DSHS), Center for Health Statistics Birth & Death Database, there were 432 infant deaths from 2019 to 2021 in Bexar County. SAHS targets a project area within Bexar County with the highest three-year Infant Mortality Rate (IMR) that is at least 1.5 times higher than the national average. The targeted zip codes make up 12.4% of Bexar County and a combined rate of 8.8 infant deaths per 1,000 live births, resulting in a total of 142 infant deaths within the target area.

On December 15, 2023, Metro Health submitted an application to HRSA for a new five-year competitive grant cycle for the Healthy Start Initiative in support of SAHS. Funding will support a total of 11 full-time positions, the continued operations of the SAHS program, and provide ongoing services for up to 250 pregnant women, up to 175 women in the inter-conception period between pregnancies and their children, 25 fathers or partners, and up to 250 community members annually.

ISSUE:

As the current HRSA Healthy Start Initiative grant will end on April 31, 2024, Metro Health requests City Council authorize the acceptance of funds upon award from HRSA in the amount up to $5,408,333.00 over a five-year period beginning May 1, 2024 through March 31, 2029.

Funding will support the continuation of the San Antonio Healthy Start (SAHS) program to address the high infant mortality, health disparities in infants, and poor birth outcomes in Bexar County, and specifically address the maternal and infant morbidity, mortality, prematurity, and low birth weight births among African-American and Hispanic populations.

ALTERNATIVES:

Should City Council choose not to approve the acceptance of funds, Metro Health will forgo the opportunity to accept funding that would support the continuation of the San Antonio Healthy Start program.
