Comprehensive Plan

Comprehensive Plan Component: South Central San Antonio Community Plan

Plan Adoption Date: August 1999

Plan Goals:

- Land Use Concepts: Low-density residential uses are located throughout the community. The majority of medium-density and high-density residential uses are located along arterials or thoroughfares.
- Strategy 2.1 – Infill Housing: Develop voluntary design guidelines as a strategy to maintain the architectural character of neighborhood areas.
- High density residential is typically located along or near major arterials or collectors.
- High density residential uses should be located in a manner that does not route traffic through other residential uses.

Comprehensive Land Use Categories:

Land Use Category: “Low Density Residential”

Description of Land Use Category: Low density residential is composed of single-family houses on individual lots. Accessory dwelling units (carriage houses, granny flats, etc.) are allowed however, the roof pitch, siding and window proportions should be identical to the principal residence to maintain community character. Certain non-residential uses, such as schools, places of worship and parks, are appropriate within these areas and should be centrally located to provide easy accessibility. Low density residential supports the principles of reinforcing existing neighborhoods, and supporting residential growth within walking distance of neighborhood commercial centers and schools. This development should be oriented toward the center of the neighborhoods and away from traffic arterials. The community also recognizes the varying densities historically found in low density residential areas and desires that existing multi-family housing continue with a multifamily use. However, any future conversions of single family residences to densities higher than a duplex is not permitted in low density residential use.

Permitted Zoning Districts: NA

Comprehensive Land Use Categories:

Land Use Category: “High Density Residential”

Description of Land Use Category: High-density residential uses include apartments with more than four dwelling units on an individual lot. All residential uses can be found within this classification. High density residential provides for compact development consisting of the full range of residential types, including apartments, condominiums and assisting living facilities. High density residential is typically located along or near major arterials or collectors. This classification may be used as a transitional buffer between lower density residential uses and non-residential uses. High density residential uses should be located in a manner that does not route traffic through other residential uses.

Permitted Zoning Districts: NA

RECOMMENDATION:

Staff Analysis and Recommendation: Staff recommends Denial.

The proposed Plan Amendment from “Low Density Residential” to “High Density Residential” is requested to rezone the property to "MF-25 IDZ” Multi-Family District with an Infill Development Zone Overlay. The existing “Low Density Residential” permits single-family residential uses, which is characteristic of the existing surrounding area. Staff finds the proposed “High Density Residential” designation, which supports more intense residential uses, inconsistent with abutting land uses. Introducing the designation to the area would allow an inconsistent land use density into the established single-family residential neighborhood.
