- Andi Rodriguez asked for clarification on the fabrication material and if it will be painted directly on the stone. Kimbelry Mirelez replied that it will be painted on polytab material and applied to panels. The panels will be installed on the face of the wall. The Department of Arts and Culture is working with the Office of Historic Preservation to ensure the fabrication design will not impact the integrity of the wall. While the wall is not historic, it has been at the park for a long time.
- Yadira Lozano asked about the images used in the depiction of the Virgen and noted the Zia symbol appears to be more reflective of the New Mexico area. Lozano asked if this was intentional and how does it relate to San Antonio. Artist, Cristina Sosa Noriega, replied that it is a Native American sun symbol and the image in the rendering is used more in the New Mexico area. She has discussed the correct image to use with Ramon Vasquez who provided a reference for a symbol that is for the local region. Noriega stated that the image Vasquez recommended will be used in the design. Noriega stated that the Virgen depicted in the mural is the one at San Fernando Cathedral. Noriega shared that she has never painted a mural quite like this that is long and cannot be seen in one view. She is using a 3D model that will be available at the Department of Arts and Culture office.
- Freda Facey asked if there are plans to address the grounds in front of the mural. Mirelez replied that the area is managed by the Department of Parks and Recreation, and typically there is grass in in this area in the spring and summer months. She will discuss with Parks to ensure the site looks good. Mirelez also noted that Centro helps to maintain this park.

Committee comments included:

- Kaldric Dow commented that the this will provide visitors with an attraction in the park. Dow commented that the design is executed well and appreciated the details and the candles.
- Andi Rodriguez suggested printing the mural on a smaller scale to be able to view it in its entirety, similar to what is available for the relief mural at the Lila Cockrell Theatre. A printed fold out material would be a nice way to share the design at the dedication.
