LATINO COLLECTION & RESOURCE CENTER

On February 3, in collaboration with UTSA, the LCRC hosted an opening reception in Central Library’s gallery honoring the work of educator/professor emerita, Dr. Ellen Riojas-Clark. The exhibition was titled Imaginate, and featured works by Cruz Ortiz, Elizabeth Rodriguez, Kathy Sosa, Rolando Briseño, and several other artists who portrayed Ellen—an iconic Latina figure in the local San Antonio community—with their own envisioning and imagination processes. Their portraits, and Ellen’s life story, emphasized the empowering message that anyone can become anything they imagine themselves to be.

On February 6, the LCRC hosted local author, political consultant and activist, Robert Vargas III. For 18 years, local activist Robert Vargas III has helped elect judges, our Sheriff, and several others here in San Antonio. He has taken his knowledge of how to run for local office and published Democracy: A Contact Sport. Robert engaged in a community plática, moderated by Alex Rodriguez of the San Antonio LGBT Chamber of Commerce, while offering a “grassroots guide to running for local office”.

LITTLE READ WAGON

In February the Little Read Wagon finished up a run of child-led Let's Play! programs at Hamilton Community Center and the Berta Almaguer Dance Studio & Community Center. Over the last couple of months these programs continued to grow from week to week. The team also offered Let's Play! at the Cortez Library the first Saturday in February. It was a beautiful day, and the children and families enjoyed playing outside together. One of the highlights of the day was when several children worked together to build a fort.

Library Services Specialist Eva Banda visited several high schools to support teen parents. The parents were able to print pictures and make photo books to enjoy and share memories with their children. One teen father was so enthusiastic about the project that he asked Ms. Banda to stay a few minutes after school so he could finish the book for his daughter. Ms. Banda also offered several Bilingual Story Times at the Navarro Center for children of teen parents in the program. She brought a large rabbit puppet that made the children shriek in happiness. She used the puppet to teach children a little bit about rabbits and to go over the words for the rabbit's body parts in Spanish.

Megan Cruz, Library Services Specialist, visited several high schools as well. She talked with teen parents about early literacy practices and brought a photo frame project with her. The parents printed a picture of their child or of them and their child together, selected a quote about early literacy or parenting from the ones Ms. Cruz had printed, and decorated the frames with permanent markers.

Julia Lazarin, Library Services Specialist, presented on Early Literacy Basics for an Infant and Toddler PreK4SA Child Development Associate (CDA) class. Ms. Lazarin, Melisa Hill, Library Services Specialist, and Kristin Yourdon, Librarian III, visited PreK4SA North Education Center to provide reading tents for the children and families on three different days. Children were able to select a reading kit, which included a board book, a flashlight, and a little toy that went along with the book. The children then selected a tent and spent some cozy time reading with their parents. Ms. Lazarin and Ms. Hill also offered parent workshops at a few different Head Start locations.

Valerie Carrol (Semmes) received and distributed eclipse activity-related supplies for upcoming children's Get Eclipse Ready events via delivery.

Preparations for children's Summer with SAPL 2024 continued with an emphasis on selecting books to be given to children at the beginning of their summer reading adventure. CENTRAL LIBRARY

CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

Librarian Ashley Palacios created popular Tween Time programs for her devoted group of regulars. They engaged in many different activities such as creating salt dough ornaments, paper bag books, and testing the Pop Madness escape room. One week they were excited to watch the movie, The Princess Bride. The highlight of the month was having the first-ever outdoor Tween Time on the west terrace where they played with a jumbo bowling set, hula hoops and tossed wet sponges into buckets of water. They also decorated the terrace floor with chalk art!

Family Story Time continued to be a joint effort organized by Assistant Manager Shannon Seglin in collaboration with Ms. Palacios and Librarian Madeline Nezat. Each one took turns presenting different elements of the story time - reading books, singing songs, and facilitating play activities. They read Shhh! The Baby's Asleep for Black History Month. The kids enjoyed the book tremendously, as did the parents. Play included washing babies and putting them to sleep in the tent. "Shhh! The babies are sleeping," could be heard throughout the playtime! Valentine's Day play included sensory bins filled with colorful red and pink streamers as well as necklaces and foam hearts. Ocean-themed story time saw children "rescuing" plastic sea creatures from a block of ice. Families were thrilled by their outdoor terrace experience during which they played with hula hoops, chalk, and a tent full of puppets. They also painted ice in a sensory bin.

Ms. Nezat continued to explore different textures, materials, and themes in her Sensory Friendly Play Time. Playdough play invitations were a huge hit, not only with the children, but also with encouraging parent participation. Simple mediums like bubble foam, sand, and gelatin were incredibly effective with long durations of play, concentration, and problem-solving skills. Multiple parents took inspiration from the simplicity of the materials used, informing Ms. Nezat that seeing the sensory bins in action made the possibilities seem more approachable and gave adults the confidence in their own capabilities to set up similar bins at home.

Several community organizations visited the Children's Library at Central in February. Manager Kate Simpson coordinated with representatives from the City of San Antonio's Head Start program to facilitate an info table in the Central Library lobby where they shared resources with parents. Ms. Seglin led a large group of parents from PreK4SA West on a tour of the Central Library and they were impressed at all the Library had to offer. Ms. Simpson arranged a visit from San Antonio College Early Childhood Studies students who used the large picture book collection for their coursework.

Library Assistant Mary Elizabeth Fernandez cohosted the Escape the Earth podcast with Tim Johnson (Igo) Elissa Vura (Brook Hollow), and JD Elizondo (Information Services at Central). The Escape the Earth crew explored Tamsyn Muir's debut novel Gideon the Ninth.

Children's Library staff continued to develop outreach connections with area childcare centers and schools. Ms. Palacios visited Central Christian Day School, where she presented story times to children and brought books for the teachers to use in class. Ms. Nezat visited Madison Square Child Development Center while Ms. Seglin was unavailable. She shared stories and songs with two classes and delivered library books in support of their curriculum. Ms. Simpson delivered books for all 5 grades of children at Discovery School. Ms. Stubbs recorded a story for SAPL's Dial A Story service as well.

TEEN LIBRARY

Rosalie continues to support and engage with teens as they explore and activate the Teen Library as their own space to serve their needs, such as studying, crafting, gaming, or gathering with friends.

Ciana Flores (Library Assistant PT) continues to engage with teens both in the Teen Library and via the 210teenlibrary Instagram page. She is responsible for the 3D printing requests from teens on the Discord server. Ciana prints and sends the requested item out to the teens' preferred library branch for pick up.

Regina Almanza (Library Assistant): Teen Tuesday after-school activities in the Teen Library highlight general teen interest and celebrations, such as celebrating winter, trying a recipe from a book found on the shelf at the Library, learning new cooking techniques, and satisfying curiosities. Suggesting, participating, and leading – these activities allow teens the chance to pick up a new skill, or show their peers tips and tricks. Pictures and videos from program times can be found on the @210teenlibrary Instagram page.

LEARN AT CENTRAL

In the month of February, Training Officer Denise Cadena led four Tech Time classes. These drop-in classes offer patrons the opportunity to bring individualized questions regarding their mobile devices. Patrons then share their questions in front of one another and can learn from each other.

Training Officer Daniel González and Learn Library Assistant Brianna Glass taught four Bilingual Computers y Creative Learning classes for or the month of February in which they assisted 7 folks with their job applications, internet navigation, and mouse practice sessions such as double clicking. The class worked on some of the basic keyboarding that gets people through applications, emails, and rudimentary computer usage.

During drop-in hours at Learn at Central this month, a regular patron, Amparo, was so excited that Denise showed her how to download and use the Uber and Lyft apps on her phone that she filled out an Encore card for the team. She also asked other patrons to fill out cards for the team to let them know how well they are doing. Later that week, another regular patron came by and said that he ran into Amparo at Whataburger, and she told him to make sure and fill out an Encore card for them. Each Learn staff member has helped this patron at one time or another and she said that she loves that they teach her how to use the computer or her device and they do not just show her what to do.

There were several patrons returning to update resumes and tell staff about how their new jobs are going. Other patrons are working through GED classes, and one is undergoing a semester long coursework to obtain teaching certificates. They both need help navigating the online platforms and learning the norms of when, where, and how to communicate with their colleagues and teachers. A regular class patron returned to thank us for helping him navigate his job's human resource procedures. He was requesting unpaid time off to be with his daughter during her medical procedure. Staff spent two days working on this with him. He was not granted the amount of time he needed, but he learned how to navigate the process and a little bit of institutional culture which has been a challenge for him to understand and appreciate previously.

TEXANA/ GENEALOGY

Librarian Andy Crews and Library Assistant Kaylee Avila participated in the Black History Month (BHM) initiative by coordinating a screening of the two-part documentary, Walk on the River: A Black History of the Alamo City, Emancipation to Integration, 1865-1965, at Central Library on February 9-10. The documentary delved into politics, religion, education, and community for African Americans living in San Antonio during that time.

In celebration of BHM, Librarian Sylvia Reyna invited researcher Jady Evans, to share the story of the Keyhole Club, an African American-owned jazz club that de-segregated San Antonio's Westside in the 1940s and 1950s. On February 10 Ms. Evans did a brief presentation on the club and a few of the famous musicians who performed there on what was known as the "Chitlin' Circuit." Men like Louie Armstrong, Nat King Cole, and Dizzy Gillespie all performed at the Keyhole. She then showed the short film, Door Between Worlds: Don Albert's Keyhole Club, which she produced.

In addition to the Walk on the River documentary screenings, Ms. Avila worked with the BHM program initiative on several events this month including a poetry slam event. On February 13 at the Schaefer Library, Ms. Avila showed the documentary Founder Girls about the country's first sleepaway camp for Black girls. The University Roundtable was organized in 1980 as a forum to explore creative, challenging, and controversial issues. The luncheon was held February 21 at the San Antonio Country Club. Ms. Ferguson shared with the group about the library's current Bond project for the Texana Resource Center in addition to Texana/Genealogy interim services at the Central Library.

The Ink Slayers Writers Group at Bazan, facilitated by Ms. Prater, welcomed writers of all levels and styles in a relaxed and welcoming writing environment. The diverse group, which has been meeting since July of last year, has been steadily increasing in attendance. One new member who recently moved to San Antonio credited the group with providing a welcoming social space for writers new to the local scene.

Bazan held an all-day writing workshop entitled Ink Madness, an off shoot of the Ink Slayers Writers Group. Writing prompts were provided and attendees took part in writing sprints in the morning with breaks in between to enjoy refreshments. to talk to topics important in our community

In last month's (January 2024) director's report, Mr. Jarzombek mentioned he had attended a Literacy Night event on December 7th and had set up a tentative date to do his first Story Time at Cameron Elementary on February 14th. He had been corresponding for months with his contact at the school to try to schedule a Story Time and was glad to find out a few days before February 14th the event had been confirmed.

When Mr. Jarzombek arrived at the school on the day of the event and talked to his contact, he found out that, instead of doing Story Time with one Pre-Kindergarten class in their classroom, he would be doing Story Time with four Pre-Kindergarten classes in the library! He mentioned to the contact that besides reading stories, he would be singing songs with the students while playing his guitar. The contact was happy he would be playing his guitar because as she explained to him, the music teacher at the school does not see the Pre-Kindergarten students for music, and this would be one of the few opportunities the Pre-Kindergarten students would experience this kind of music activity.

After reading a story and singing a few songs with the students, things seemed to be going well for Mr. Jarzombek when to his surprise, the principal of the school (Brandy Lewis) decided to come to the library to see how things were going with Story Time! Mr. Jarzombek got the impression the principal was enjoying the program, but he was worried for the rest of the program that perhaps she did not enjoy the program as much as he had thought.

While Mr. Jarzombek was walking down the hallway with his contact to exit the school after the program, he noticed the principal standing in front of him far down the hallway, just when he figured he was done with having to getting nervous around the principal! It turned out Mr. Jarzombek had nothing to worry about – when he walked close to where she was standing in the hallway, she gave him a school mascot T-shirt and a handwritten card expressing her gratitude for coming to the school to do the Story Time event. She also invited him to come back to the school to do another Story Time.

supplies and materials. Ms. Rios is expected to assume hosting and responsibilities of Carver's Teen Time in March. While Mr. Harle's weekly podcasting outreach to Sam Houston High School was cancelled, he is working with SHHS Librarian Dina Branford to reschedule.

The Cody Library served as a polling location for early voting for the Primary election at the end of the month. Many staff members attended Staff Day on February 19, participating in karaoke, trivia, goat petting, crafting, yoga, art scavenger hunts, networking, and meeting SAPL staff.

The branch hosted ASL Basics on February 10, presented by staff from Language Equity Access, Advocacy & Advancement for the Deaf Enterprise. Students from Health Careers High School hosted a voter registration drive, complete with a sample voting machine, in conjunction with the League of Women Voters on February 17.

The Cody Fiber Club continues to meet on Monday evenings, hosted by library assistant Haly LeFlore. The group has been growing, with new folks joining the group to work on their projects, share tips, and even celebrate birthdays.

Participants in ABC Club (ages 2-4) celebrate the letters P, R, S and V (for valentines) through music, stations of crafts and learning games, and reading books together, with Children's Librarian Cari Raley and volunteers. Several families learned more about each other's culture and connected with new languages each week. Families have slowly developed friendships through this program and have been able to celebrate their cultures and traditions outside of the program, including holidays like lunar new year and several Tamil smaller holidays and festivals. Multiple families learned about the American tradition of Valentine's card exchange for the first time this month.

Storybook Club highlighted one book each week. Attendees get to practice reading comprehension as a group as they identify the main characters and a few new words from the featured story. During stations, kids get a chance to design bracelets, necklaces, and all kinds of wearable fashion to retell the story at home later as well as play some learning games, along with puppets and masks.

Homeschool programs are called the Nature Club and World Makers. Both clubs focus on learning more about planet Earth. World Makers learned this month how to research current issues and problems for the planet. Students chose a country and researched the socioeconomic climate, political concerns, culture, environmental issues and the chosen country's relationship with its neighboring countries and allies using library resources. Then they participated in a variation of a model United Nations simulation, representing their country in a group debate on the topics of Clean Water and Access to Primary Education for all kids. Then they created posters of protest or support for the countries' point of view.

The Nature Club focused on polar animals. The group did several projects including making models of icebergs, narwal watercolor, and a polar animal diorama. Several guardians have noted to library staff the value of the program but also enjoy the suggested take home activities.

Kids' Time Art had a great time exploring paint sticks, oil pastels, watercolors, and crayons in their different creations. Several families have said that this is the highlight of their week. They never had the opportunity to use any of these tools before and were very excited about the chance.

Teen Librarian Ashley Frost secured a donation of 600 seed packets from a local seed bank. The Cody Seed Library has been able to provide seeds to community members to plant herbs, vegetables, and flowers in their own gardens!

As always, Cody has a huge after-school group of teens excited to craft, hang out, and volunteer at the library. This group has enjoyed making Perler bead crafts, bracelets, slime (a fan favorite), crochet, and more! Teens have taken ownership over their section of the library displaying their art, their achievements (with redacted names), and asking all community teens questions on the teen whiteboard that people all day and week answer allowing teens to make new connections with peers who may not share the space at the same time as them.

Ms. Toll made a card making station in the teen area for Valentine's Day and continued to have the window decorating area available, as well as butcher paper on the tables.

Ms. Toll continued to supervise Off-site teen volunteers and assist Matthew Loaiza with the weekly Teen Club on the 210teenlibrary Discord server. In collaboration with Michael Harle and Kelli Pyles, Ms. Toll helped present a training session for library staff on February 19th at All Staff Day. For the event, teen volunteers came to the Henry B. Gonzalez Convention center to donate their time to help library staff understand teens and how to talk to them and work with them, in addition to six Zoom meetings to help plan the training session.

Patrons enjoy learning new tips and techniques and seeing everyone's projects progress. Vince Escovedo with Metro Health's Healthy Neighborhoods led another delicious cooking class, showing patrons easy recipes that are also healthy. This month's recipe was a flavorful chimichurri sauce over salad! Ale Ochoa from Metro Health's Diabetes Prevention & Control Group offered three more Diabetes Prevention workshops (Prevent T2) for patrons with prediabetes or another chronic disease. Senior Planet and Older Adults Technology Services (OATS) from AARP offered two workshops this month: Gmail Tips and Tricks and iPhones. In addition, AARP hosted another technology class for patrons over 50, Job Searching in the Digital Age. Both partner organizations focus on helping older adults with technology. Patrons enjoy coming in to taste different flavored teas and bring in whatever craft they want to work on February was heavy on the theme of food for children at the Cortez branch. The month started off with learning about New Orleans and experience a taste of the Crecent City with king cake, Saints football facts, and songs! Afterwards, Children's Librarian Linda Childs showed the families in attendance how to make their own "king cake" with a little help from cotton balls and glitter. The next week, kids talked about their favorite foods and made paper versions of them. Other story time events included magnet making and painting with shaving cream. Tween Time and Lego Time continued to be big hits for the branch. This month saw several children return week after week to continue working on one specific Lego project. Library staff saved their progress on the tops of the shelves, where visitors could clearly see the progress as the month went by. The tweens were less excited about February, as voting in the second half of the month meant that they could not use the meeting room. They did like making stress balls, however, and playing with the flour that went inside them.

ENCINO

Childrens

Encino children have had a busy month for our Story Time and Baby Story Time groups, which have both been growing continuously. Caregivers have really been creating a community with each other and are great at listening, encouraging, and advising each other on different issues as they care for their littles.

Both Encino kids and Encino tweens had fun creating different types of valentines for our crafts this month. Kids had fun exploring color and creating new colors as they created heart symmetry art paintings. Tweens painted seashells for their valentines.

We also had fun with our regular Read to a Dog, LEGOs and Sensory Play programs. It has been fun to watch kids create their own stories using shadow puppets during sensory play. We are looking forward to another busy month ahead in March!

Teen

Encino teens have been led by our teen library aide Kelli Pyles while we await our next Teen Librarian. Each week the kids come up with different activities and they always have a nice big group hanging out together. They have also continued their weekly Monday Art program led by volunteer Aubry Warmke where the students enjoy hanging out and working on different projects together.

Teen Library Aides Kelli Pyles and Persephone Williams volunteered their time and experience for the Staff Day breakout session titled Teens in the Library. Kelli and Persephone met with the facilitators of the breakout session to coordinate the event and got several of the Teen Time Council members involved to work the tables at the session.

Adults

February started off with adult services librarian Ann Laird's monthly visit to Franklin Park Assisted Living on February 1. February's featured author was Janet Evanovich. Residents enjoyed a biographical sketch, watched a short interview with Ms. Evanovich, and watched the trailer for the movie One for the Money based on the first Stephanie Plum novel.

On Sunday, February 2, all ages enjoyed making Pompom bookmarks from various colors of yarn. Most participants had never made a pompom from scratch before, so it was a learning experience! It was also an opportunity for the youngest participants to practice their counting skills as they had to wrap the yarn around their hand 90 times.

Adult crafters got very creative at the Painted Tea Towels program on February 12. Participants were given blank tea towels, fabric paint, cookie cutters (to be used as stamps or stencils), and other painting supplies – and were set free to let their imaginations run wild! It was very interesting to see what creative direction each person took with their tea towel. Everyone made something different and unique!

As she does every month, Ms. Menchaca wrote an entry for the children's blog; this month she wrote about the children's book "The Skull."

Wanting to increase attendance for programs and awareness of offerings, Ms. Menchaca went to nearby city parks and posted flyers advertising the children's programs at Forest Hills. As she does every month, Ms. Menchaca has had Storytime, Kids Time, Lego Time, Baby Time, and Bilingual Storytime. A special Kids Time celebrating "Leap Day" was a hit! Kids made lily pads and an origami frog. Kids had a lot of fun playing hopscotch and bigger kids taught some younger kids how to play on the hopscotch board she made with colorful tape. Ms. Menchaca has noticed that come and go crafts have been popular lately, with children and their caregivers enjoying drawing and creating freely.

Ms. Roberts attended the children's librarian's meeting on February 14 at the Tobin Library.

Library Assistant Mary Lou Bleichwehl assisted Maverick Teen Volunteers as they implemented their plans and spontaneous activities. Teens created paper crafts in February, and crayons made a comeback; some chose to make Valentines on the 13th and laminating bookmarks was popular. One Teen chose to work on their submission for the Teen Summer T-shirt art contest. Those not as interested in crafting competed in Clue, Taco Cat Goat Cheese Pizza tabletop games and Beat Saber on the PS4.

Library Palooza ... In October Bleichwehl began coordinating with Brandeis High School Librarian, Sheryl Stoeck, for NISD's Library Palooza. Once Esperanza Meekins became the new Igo Teen Librarian I, Bleichwehl handed over coordination to her. On the day of the event, Bleichwehl transported the requested supplies from SAPL Teen Services and Communications to Brandeis High School. Attendees of the event were able to make a button and learned about SAPL services and events.

McCRELESS

Children's Librarian Paula Lenington led Family Story Time every Thursday in February. The kids sang songs, listened to a story, and had an engaging time playing and building.

Every Tuesday of the month, kids came to build and play with Legos. They did a good job using their imagination to create.

The Center for Health Care Services visited the McCreless Library with a group of 11 adults with special needs. Librarian Paula Lenington had a story/craft time with them where she read stories and did some crafts. They really enjoyed the opportunity and will be back in March.

On February 14th Paula Lenington had the opportunity to visit Kiddie Corner Learning Academy, and had the privilege to read stories, and sing songs with the kids. There were around 30 kids in attendance.

On two Sundays in February, Amy came with her dog Seamus for the Read to a Dog program. Kids took turns reading to Seamus to increase their reading fluency.

Every Tuesday night from 5:30-7:30pm, Daniela Moreno, Teen Services Librarian at McCreless, facilitated weekly programs for teens aged 13 to 18 in the Teen Space. The teens decided the activities they wanted to do for the following week. Some examples of these activities are playing with the Nintendo Switch, creating art with the materials provided, making buttons, etc.

In February Library Assistant Joseph Gonzales hosted and organized Pokéfest 2024 at McCreless Library with the help of staff from McCreless Library and staff from 8 other branches. Pokéfest had over 600 smiling and excited patrons attending this event. They were able to enjoy crafts, temporary tattoos, Pokémon card gaming/trading, Pokémon Go Battle tournaments, Pokémon button making, and a Pokémon Loteria game for all ages. On February 13th Mr. Gonzales also hosted a Family Movie Night at McCreless called Trolls Band Together. Visitors enjoyed refreshing beverages as well as popcorn with the movie. Library Assistant Gonzales also continued to use his tech savvy to solve some computer issues with the public and staff computers at McCreless Library.

McCreless held a Lunar New Year Celebration on February 6. Patrons of all ages enjoyed a presentation by Yaping Zhang who discussed the history of Lunar New Year. They were thrilled to take part in a dragon parade throughout the library.

Adult Services Librarian Vicky Villalobos held McCreless' weekly Coffee, Crosswords & Chisme program for Older Adults. On Wednesday mornings, patrons enjoy a cup of coffee while they work on crosswords, Sudoku, and word finds as they discuss the latest celebrity "chisme". Vicky also held the monthly Queer Crafternoon program on February 18 where the selection was "Delilah Green Doesn't Care" by Ashley Herring Blake. And on February 23, Vicky joined Librarians Brook Mjolsness and Dan Garcia for SAPL Live Trivia.

On February the 5th, McCreless hosted an event in partnership with Musical Bridges Around the World, a local nonprofit arts organization, and producers of the educational documentary film "The Quilt: A Living History of African American Music", which explores the music genres born and formed by African American history and culture and how music of the past connects with that of the present, just like the layers of a quilt.

MEMORIAL

In March of 2020, Memorial Branch Library (along with the rest of San Antonio Public Library) closed its doors to the public due to the COVID-19 pandemic. By the end of February 2021, SAPL was still mostly closed and the staff at Memorial had nearly finished packing the branch's collection and other belongings as they prepared to turn the building over to contractors to begin a renovation and remodeling project approved under the 2017 Bond. On February 25, 2023, the branch reopened after its extended closure in a massive celebration which included guest speakers and a specially commissioned poem from Dr. Carmen Tafolla, who read her work to a thrilled audience. After the ribbon was cut, the crowd surged into the building, serenaded by a group of mariachis in the brand-new lobby.

On February 27, 2024, the branch observed the first anniversary of this joyous occasion with cupcakes, hot chocolate, take-and-make crafts for all ages, and a slideshow of historic photos from the branch. Here are a few of the photos:

Memorial Branch Library's "Red Carpet Reads" is a combination book and film club, with a focus on books which have been turned into films which have subsequently been Oscar nominees for Best Picture by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. February's film was From Here to Eternity. The book selection was 12 Years a Slave, by Solomon Northup. The book club participants engaged in a very thoughtful dialogue on race and commented that they were grateful to the public library for being a space where "such topics could be discussed maturely and without censure."

Several regular patrons of the Memorial Branch Library's Learn at SAPL earned certificates in Email Basics and MS Word Basics, respectively. Another patron credited the job search assistance provided by Training Officer Daniel Gomez with helping her obtain a job at NISD. The Learn Center continues to provide language classes in English and Spanish, as well as facilitating Spanish & English and German & English language exchanges.

Assistant Manager Freddy Hudson and Intern Lauryn Hyde led a well-attended family Valentine program where participants enjoyed microwave s'mores and made paper flower vases and cards. As part of the branch's Black History Month celebration, Freddy arranged for saxophonist Vincent (from Our Lady of the Lake University) and his friend Jose to perform in the lobby one afternoon.

MISSION

Mission was a designated early voting location for the joint Democratic-Republican primary election during the last 2 weeks of February and beginning of March.

Weekly Baby Time and Story Time continued as usual every Thursday morning in addition to LEGO Club happening bi-weekly on Mondays.

Teens at Mission Library participated in several arts and crafts activities throughout the reporting period. Activities such as jewelry making, card marbling, and using alcohol ink were all selected by teens for their Tuesday night program called Teen Crafternoon.

A gaming program that consists of chess, board games and video gaming also took place each Saturday afternoon in February. Teen volunteers facilitate this program called, Ready, Set, Game. A Teen KPop club, facilitated by Megan Feeley also saw teens turn out for KPop video watching and activities.

Teen Services Librarian, Cindy Cruz, also began a partnership with the Villa Coronado Resource Center. The center is run by COSA Metro Health and provides a variety of resources for the community that borders the Harlandale and Southside School Districts. Cindy will be providing a monthly arts and crafts program for teens in the area.

During the month of February, OATS from AARP and Mission partnered once again to bring technology presentations including Getting Started with Canva on February 5th and Intro to Managing Your Privacy on February 12.

On February 26th, Circulation Attendant Megan Feeley hosted an Alcohol Ink Art program.

Mission hosted a poetry program titled, Praise the Lorde Poetry Slam on February 18th. It celebrated the life of queer feminist poet and activist, Audre Lorde through spoken word art.

PAN AMERICAN

The Pan American Branch created a display for the new Corazon Collection to show how much the library loves its patrons. Circulation Attendant Monica Suarez and Library Assistant Linda Bauers created a display with hearts to promote the collection and to also celebrate Valentine's month. In addition, Ms. Bauers created a display for Black History month featuring not just books but also music such as CDs from Jazz singer Ella Fitzgerald.

Children at Pan American enjoyed the Valentines themed programing and displays. Children's Librarian Rachel Forbes created a Valentine's themed Come and Go craft in which children and their families' created valentines about what they loved about the library and the patrons put the Valentines on the wall to share with the community. Families could also pick up a quilt or sewing themed book in the Quilt display. In Tween Time Ms. Forbes had Tweens create fun creatures using Clothespins. In addition to Story Time, Tween Time, and Family Fun Time, Ms. Forbes conducted outreach at the Fun Run at Spicewood Park Elementary.

Gladys Nunez, Teen Librarian, facilitated opportunities for teens at the Branch to share their creativity. Teen volunteers created two YA displays (as well as flyers) for the month of February. One was titled "All About Love" focusing on romance books and the second one was titled "Fall in Love with Reading" which included books from different genres. Both displays proved to be popular with patrons.

During Teen Time in January, teens played video games on the PS5 and made various arts and crafts. One teen designed her own Valentine's Day bookmarks to give out to friends at school. Ms. Nunez also visited McCollum High School for an outreach visit during the school library's lunchtime courtyard event. The teens were able to make their own buttons and picked up some free pencils, stickers, and flyers.

PARMAN

Parman Library was again designated as an early voting site during the primaries and saw a great turnout. As usual, voting brings in a lot of newcomers to the library and gives staff the chance to talk about all the wonderful services of SAPL and sign-up people who don't generally visit the library on a regular basis. No day was as busy as the final voting day which saw lines out the parking lot.

This February a new exhibit, "Masks (Xayak) - The Face of Our Traditions," was featured at the Parman Library Gallery. With its vibrant tapestry of cultural expressions, the display is an eclectic collection of traditional masks from Africa, South America and Asia collected and shared by Amalia Palacios and Jose Sordo. The exhibition is a testament to their dedication to preserving and sharing these unique cultural artifacts. Each mask tells a story, encapsulating the history, beliefs, and values of the communities that created them. Through intricate craftsmanship and artistic expression, the collection showcases the extraordinary diversity of shared humanity. It has been one of the most unique and deeply profound exhibits to grace the Parman Gallery walls and the staff was proud to host it.

This February at the Parman Library both love and shall we say "anti-love" was in the air with the branch's dueling book displays made by library aides Seva Hester, Angelica Chavez, and circulation attendant Nia Meissler! Hester and Chavez's display was aptly called "Anti-Valentines Day" and featured books that had a down-with-love theme. It was the antithesis to Ms. Meissler's "For the Love" display which of course was a celebration of all things love. The two displays were popular and became a talking point for patrons as the displays were located directly across from each other, giving everyone a good laugh.

The Friends of the Parman Library showed the branch's staff some love this February by holding a staff appreciation celebration on Valentine's Day! They decorated the break room and provided pizza, chips, and soda for staff along with lovely individual thank you notes to each staff member. Staff was truly touched by the celebration and spoke for days about the Friends' generosity. It was a wonderful way to thank the staff for all their hard work and dedication.

Parman Library's Indecisive Book Club has nearly doubled its size since its inception last June and the February meeting saw its highest numbers yet with 12 people in attendance. The club's book selection, Long Bight River by Liz Moore, made for a lively discussion about the hard decisions women face as mothers, sisters, and daughters. Each meeting members show enthusiasm for the books read and express their opinions exuberantly. Library assistant Melissa Moser, the club's organizer, stated the club has been a great way to cultivate a space for members of the community to socialize over their love of reading and has been responsible for some newly found friendships.

This month, the Teens at Parman have been on a roll, whipping up new recipes, unleashing their inner artists, mastering the art of origami, and getting their game on! Despite some doubts about their artistic skills, they dove in, cheered each other on, and had a blast creating their own unique masterpieces. Valentine's Day saw Parman's teens dive into a mac 'n cheese extravaganza - because, let's face it, who can resist cheese? They bonded while creating group art, fostering bonds of friendship. And as our teen-led Dungeons and Dragons saga unfolds, we're all on the edge of our seats, eagerly awaiting the next twist in the game!

February was celebrated with lots of hearts! Over 350 young patrons were challenged to find all the hearts in the children's area which gave them the letters they needed for the secret Valentine message, "You're #1 in my book!" The front of the library was a vision in red and pink with Miss Teague's Valentine's Day gnome display. The Story Time and Cuentos y Canciones programs had many venues in February due to Early Voting. Aside from the meeting rooms early in the month, Miss Lisa and Miss Veronica hosted the story time families outside in the amphitheater and in the library. Creator Club enjoyed making Valentine's Day cards for their loved ones this month with a variety of red, pink, and purple materials. Kids especially loved the day they got to make sculptures out of pool noodles! During early voting, the creators moved outside for a messy play day with water beads and slime. A noisy, fun time was had by all!

Our tween group decided they wanted to focus on the environment this month. The kids made anti-littering posters with Miss Teague to share with the community and went on a trash hunt outside the library. They discussed endangered animals and have decided they want to do an endangered species display next.

POTRANCO

Potranco's Manager, Tim Johnson continued to cohost SAPL's Escape the Earth podcast with Elissa Vura (from Brook Hollow), Mary Elizabeth Fernandez (Children's Services), and J. D. Elizondo (Information Services). February's episode, titled "Dungeons and Dirty Comics" is a discussion on Tamsyn Muir's book Gideon the Ninth.

To kick off the new year, Adult Services Librarian Dawn Zeig invited Melissa Gonzales of the Diabetes Prevention Unit of Metro Health to host a seven-week diabetes prevention program series centered on creating healthy habits. The sessions are on Tuesday afternoons beginning at 1pm. We had two sessions in January, four sessions in February and the series will end on March 5th. There have been nine engaged patrons attending the weekly class.

Partners from Successfully Aging and Living in San Antonio (SALSA), an initiative of the San Antonio Area Foundation, gave an interactive session addressing how to plan to stay comfortable, safe, socially connected, and mobile while aging. Several participants requested that another program be held again in the fall.

Librarian Zeig participated in an outreach to Woodlawn Pines Senior Apartment Community on Monday, February 26th along with Michelle Rickman, Program Manager of LEARN, and Training Officer Daniel Gomez, Memorial Library LEARN Center. Ms. Zeig, Ms. Rickman, and Mr. Gomez gave a presentation highlighting programs and services that are available to the community. There was an interest in eBook offerings through Libby and activities available through Craftsy, as well as interest in visiting the library to borrow physical books.

Ms. Zeig held an adult program in honor of the Lunar New Year on February 4th. Chinese Professor Yaping Zhang gave participants a lesson on Chinese calligraphy using calligraphy ink and rice paper. This program was graciously sponsored by the Friends of the Potranco Library. Participants learned how to draw numbers in Chinese along with animals, birds, and Chinese phrases.

Librarian Zeig continued to host Hormones and Hot Flashes on the last Sunday of the month. Patrons that are experiencing perimenopause or are in menopause are encouraged to come listen to a podcast, chat, and color. This month's podcast featured Midlife Women's Health Coach, Tania Dalton, discussing "Simple Steps to Create a Beautiful Midlife" part two.

Next month's selection is a memoir: Everything I Learned, I Learned in a Chinese Restaurant by Curtis Chin. Librarian Zeig continues to host Dreaded Threads on Monday evenings and it continues to be one of our best attended adult programs.

Chess! At Potranco continues to be very popular. Volunteer Chess Master David Pacheco III brought his skills and enthusiasm for the game to Potranco on February 10th and 24th.

The Potranco branch participated in Collection Development's Black History Month book display for February and created a display for the new Corazon Collection within the adult stacks. Both book displays have been heavily circulated.

For the month of February, Children's Librarian II Lisa Leandro attended Galm Family Academic Night. She also continued to oversee the branch's usual, Story Times, Kids Times, and Tween Times. We did have a fun Pal-entines themed story time and the kids enjoyed making cards. Ms. Leandro also worked with Library Assistant Vivianna Roldan to prepare for Bluey Spring Break activities.

Sherry Ross, Teen Services Librarian at Potranco, facilitated weekly programs for teens aged 13 to 18, utilizing the library's "Create" space and the outside courtyard. During the weekly Teen Time, teens enjoyed various activities including making origami dragons and painting with glow in the dark paint. Teen Time activities encouraged creative expression and positive social interaction. Potranco Branch Library's teen volunteer program continued to grow in February with several new teens joining the ranks. Teen volunteers helped plan and facilitate Teen Time, maintained Potranco's teen space, and helped with other library tasks such as book shelving and prep work for children's crafts. Through volunteering, teens practiced leadership and teamwork while having fun. Sherry Ross continued to mentor a student from Stevens High School involved in an independent studies class, providing guidance as the student works towards her end of course project.

Sherry Ross joined other San Antonio Public Library (SAPL) Teen Services staff at Library Palooza, Northside Independent School District's free author festival for area teens. At Library Palooza, SAPL representatives interacted with an estimated 825 people, providing information about SAPL services, helping attendees create buttons using one of SAPL's button makers, and sharing in the crowd's excitement for all things "bookish."

Circulation Attendant Paschal Booker continued to organize two monthly meetings for the Potranco Writers Group on the second and fourth Saturdays of the month. Attendance numbers have returned to a robust 11-14 participants for each session. Members of longer standing have done an excellent job of integrating new attendees into the group's process and dynamics. More reviewed material has been identified as likely contributions to the 2024 Potranco Writers Group anthology. Submissions will begin in late April for a summer release.

PRUITT at ROOSEVELT HS

In February 2024, Pruitt's Children's Services embraced the end of the winter season with engaging love-themed Toddler Story Times and Sensory Play Times. The story sessions featured books that centered on themes of love and compassion. During Sensory Play Time, children enjoyed Valentine's Day-themed playdough mats and sensory bins with a Valentine's theme. This month, toddlers explored new pre-writing activities like salt tray drawing, heart shape cutting, and lacing.

Moreover, the branch kicked off its Children's Yoga program's Spring Session, led by teen volunteer Francisco and tween volunteer Adalae. The program focused on breaking down each aspect of a sun salutation, and each participant crafted a card for a loved one.
